Loretto, Pa., Sep. 28, 1886. is it not strange that every fledgling who piques himself as being able to edit a newspaper should consider it a bounden duty to say something in his leader about things of which he is totally ignorant? How strange the language used in the Voice of September 23d sounds in this enlightened age-"The Sale of Induigences in the Catholic Church." Leave it there gentlemen and read a little more. You will find many useful hints in the hidden lore of the church about prohibition.

Hay Fever.

I have been a periodical sufferer from bay fever (a most appoying and loathsome disease), since the summer of 1879, and until I used Ety's Cream Balm, was never able to find any relief until cold weather I can truthfully say that Cream Baim cured me. MALOY-Died at his residence, in Nicktown, on Thursday evening, September 16th, Mr Peter Mr. Majoy was a man of singularly clear judgment and mental power and upon all questions of public interest his views were intelligent and just. He had been a resident of Nicktown for about four years, during which time both in his business and private relations be sustained an enviable reputation. His leuneral was largely attended, and many and hitter were the tears that feil upon his grave. His remains were interred at Cameron's Bottom.

McDERMITT-Died at his residence in Loretto, on Tuerday. August 21, 1885, James P., son of James and Lydia McDermitt, deceased, formerly of Ebensburg, aged 21 years and nine months. May be rest in peace.

Let me lay, before the summer fades, One fllower on his grave! Let me write before my heart shall fall, One word upon his tomb! Let me breathe a prayer above him. And await till God so willing, Here beside him in the silence, All the rest of us find room.

No-I cannot gather flowers ! I can write for him no verses ! Let the prayer he loved so dearly, "De Profundis" be my cry. Oh I the Lord will surely hear me Hear the voice of my petition-Thro' that pleptiful redemption. Grant him endless rest on high

THE GOLDEN AGE COOKING STOVE. OYER 50,000 IN USE

In presenting to the favorable consideration of the public the Golden Age Cooking Stove, we do so with the utmost confidence in its merits as a successful operating cook stove. It has been thoroughly tested, we having sold in the last three years over 50,000 of them We would call attention to the conour of the stove, it being in the aighest degree graceful and wel proportioned. For weight, smoothness of castings and perfect fittings it is unequalled. As a BAKER IT IS PERFECT, and we believe that this, our latest production, is, without exception, the finest and best operating cook stove made to day.
